

"What's the use of a fine house
if you haven't got a tolerable planet to put it on?"

The Native Landscape Specialists

Designers of Beautiful, Sustainable and Enduring Outdoor Spaces for Government, Non-Profit and Private Sector Clients

www.WildsideAssociates.com

For over 25 years we have been committed to land planning and site design based on environmentally sustainable practices that preserve or restore nature at the local level.*

We create beautiful, sustainable, place specific landscapes that work with nature, not against her. Landscapes that enhance biological diversity, preserve local plant communities, provide valuable wildlife habitat, and employ low impact development (LID) techniques to manage stormwater and soil on-site.

We know that preservation or restoration of the local ecology, conservation of genetic diversity, water, soil and visual resources will create a better product for our clients and improve the quality of life for everyone.

25 years ago they said we were crazy. Now this is the dominant global trend in site design and land planning.*

WE BELIEVE-

We will respect the time and financial resources of our clients, contractors, suppliers and everyone else we do business with as if they were our own.

Solutions will always be framed by the knowledge and opinions of the stakeholders involved. In order for us to achieve the best results, we need to include as many stakeholders as possible, as early in the process as possible.

Site design and economic development must be carefully integrated with natural processes in order to be environmentally sustainable, ecologically sound, appropriate in scale and location, and to avoid destroying the very things which make each place special.

Successful site design integrates the site with the local and regional landscape (by drawing on local landscape patterns, colors and forms) while providing for human use and enjoyment, to the mutual benefit of nature and people.

Soil, air, and water are gifts and our most precious natural resources. We must use the best practices available for their conservation and sustainable use.
